St. Alban's Has New Vestry

Rector's Report at Annual Meeting Shows Serious Financial Deficit
Bishop Sherman Coming
February 14

The parishioners' annual meeting of St. Alban's Church was held on Friday evening with Rev. A. S. Partington presiding. His report reviewed the activities of the Ladies' Guild, the Sunday School and the vestry. Thanks were expressed to the Girls' Guild under Mrs. George A. Brown and Miss Laura Johnston for providing stage and window curtains for the hall, and to the ladies for their work during the year. Also acknowledgment of appreciation was expressed to the ladies of the Altar Guild, Mrs. Clifford, organist and the faithful choir.

Lack of co-operation on the part of the vestry was noted in the report, amounting in some measure for the deficit in finances, which showed a deficit on local expenses and only part of the Diocesan Assessment paid.

The vestry appointed by the rector for 1937 were A. L. R. Davidson, Edwin Barnes, Fred Antrobus, W. L. Borrowes and George McMullen. Frank H. Graham was appointed rector's warden and Walter Williams people's warden.

Discussion ensued on methods to be adopted to raise funds during 1937, and a committee of the parishioners are organized to meet at Mrs. R. W. Johnston's home the following Monday evening to arrange a whist drive and social, to be held on Friday (tomorrow) evening, January 22, at 8 p.m. in the parish hall.

Those present at the annual meeting were Mesdames D. Griffiths, Partington, Jackson, W. Gate, Penny, Lloyd, Blower, Johnston, and Messrs. Walter Williams, H. T. Halliwell, G. McMullen and W. McMullen, Jr. Rt. Rev. L. Ralph Sherman, D.D. will visit the parish on February 14 for confirmation services at St. Luke's, and St. Alban's.

The newly appointed vestry of St. Alban's met on Sunday night and decided to hold a telephone bridge competition under the direction of Mr. A. L. R. Davidson on Wednesday, January 27.

A committee consisting of Mrs. W. Jackson, Mrs. W. Gate, H. T. Halliwell and Walter Williams met at the home of Mrs. Johnston on Monday evening to complete arrangements for a whist drive tomorrow evening. Prizes will be donated by the committee and refreshments will be served, followed by a short social. The admission is 35c each, proceeds for church funds.

If it is advertised in The Journal it must be O.K.

Fisher and Moores Bonspiel Winners

Destobel Rink Fails to Stand
Pace and Is Defeated in Both Finals.

The bonspiel held last week for the Studebaker and Pontiac trophies came to a successful conclusion on Sunday as the final of the Pontiac between Fisher of Bellevue and Destobel was played off. Fisher took an early lead increasing it to a comfortable margin as the local team lost the form that had carried them to the final and finished with a 15-6 win.

Destobel, who had also reached the final of the Studebaker, met the Moores' rink skipped by Ed. Ledieu and lost a heartbreaker on the twelfth end to go down to defeat 10-9. Destobel jumped into a commanding 8-1 lead on the fourth end and seemed well on his way to an easy victory but the Moores' rink refused to give up, and changing their style of play from that of a draw to a knock-out, only allowed Destobel to touch the chalk once in the next eight ends while they won nine points to tie the score at 9-9 on the tenth end. The eleventh end was a blank and they were all square going home. Ledieu lay shot as Destobel threw the last rock. The rock curled its way slowly down the ice, the sweepers working on it at top speed, only to have it curl a trifle too much, it barely scripping past the Ledieu rock. An ounce more weight and the game would have been won by Destobel so close did he come for shot rock.

Shorty Jenkins Scored Three Goals; Fisher One Goal and Two Assists; Barry Brilliant

Jimmy Joyce Knocked Semi-Conscious in Collision with Slim Anderson in Third Period; Spotswood and Stewart Score for Lethbridge.

Lethbridge Maple Leafs, defeated on Wednesday by a 4-2 score in a Crow league game, made a determined effort to duplicate their victory of two weeks previously when they trimmed Canadians at Lethbridge. The largest gate admissions of the season were reported by the hockey executive, approximately 2,000. Pass towns turned out splendidly, despite sub-zero weather, while Lethbridge fans came in a special train of six coaches, 240 passengers being brought from that city and intermediate points.

Spirited play featured the entire game, with plenty of penalties handed out by Ab. Holt and "Bill" Gate, five going to each team. Joyce suffered an injury to his knee, the same one he hurt badly during the soccer season. He collided heavily with Slim Anderson during the third period, injuring the knee and also striking his head on the ice, causing him to become semi-conscious of his surroundings until he came to on a hospital cot later in the evening.

Canadians were the better finished team around goal and were worthy of the goals they did score, Jenkins getting three of them. Barry in the local net played exceptionally well and repeatedly outguessed the Lethbridge snipers and only bad luck robbed him of his second successive shut-out. Lethbridge were goaded on to desperation when they found themselves about to be shut-out 3-0 with only four minutes to go.

The two goals that the Leafs did get were just breaks of the game, as they had no systematic play on either one, the goal scorers, Spotswood and Stewart, both backhanding the puck into the net as it skidded away from careening players. Stewart especially could hardly hold himself for joy when he saw the puck slide into the net. With the score 3-2, Canadians went again on the attack and clearly showed they were far superior to the Leafs when they kept play continually in the Leaf zone for the

Re-Organization Board of Trade Proposed

Suggestions have been made that a meeting be held to re-organize the Board of Trade, dormant for a considerable time, through indifference of business men. Many useful suggestions may emanate from such an organization. A council or a school board is elected, then the people sit down and forget all about them for a year. A Board of Trade can be of assistance in bringing forth views worthy of consideration by municipal representatives, and thereby lightening their responsibilities in carrying on the people's business. Let's hear what you think about the suggestion.

Bearcats Play Thrilling Game

Though Defeated 6-0 Put Up Gallant Effort Against Canadians in League Game

Canadians gave a finished performance on Monday evening as they overcame the fighting Blairmore Bearcats 6-0 before a fair-sized crowd. The game was replete with thrills from start to finish as the six former Coleman players, senior and junior, were out to make a good impression on the fans, resulting in Canadians having to "put on the heat" to keep their reputation intact.

Jack Kwasnie was too closely watched to be effective and skated off the ice for good with the score 5-0 in the third. The junior Coleman players who have caught their places with Blairmore need to speed up in the breakaways, being caught before they were barely underway. Tony Vejprava, perhaps the oldest player on the ice, was still too fast for some of the Canadians and those players should get wise to themselves and get out some night and do a couple of hours speed skating. They're too slow in getting off their mark.

Two goals in the last minute of the first period by Bill Fraser and Pete Brown were really earned, as Kemp had been bombarded from all angles for the preceding eighteen minutes without allowing a goal. Jim Fraser and Lopichuk were the marksmen in the second period, both goals being unassisted. Bill Fraser and Joyce finished the scoring in the third with one each.

Although six goals down and outplayed Bearcats really gave a thrilling display of hockey and on many occasions Barry was hard pressed to keep the puck from his net. The next Blairmore visit, February 1, will be eagerly awaited.

Many Prisoners Escape During Riot At Guelph Reformatory

Guelph, Ont.—Ontario reformatory officials feared as many as 150 prisoners escaped from the institution during a riot and prison delivery in which $200,000 damage was believed caused by fire and destruction to the prison interior.

During the height of the riot, when prisoners smashed furniture and fixtures, burned bedding, mattresses and broken furniture, it was estimated scores ran from the building and succeeded in escaping over the surrounding hills. The fires were extinguished early in the evening.

"I am confident every prisoner who had a chance to escape, did so," said one reformatory official. More than 700 men were housed in the building, situated approximately on 800 acres of property dotted by artificial lakes and streams.

Within a mile of Ontario agricultural college, the reformatory was used for men sentenced to less than two-year terms.

At least three officers were injured and 15 prisoners overcome by smoke in the rebellion started by 15 prisoners at noon dinner. Protests over quality of food and refusal to permit convicts to receive gifts at Christmas were said to have led to the trouble.

Sergeant A. C. Maguire, chief custodial officer and a veteran member of the reformatory staff, was knocked unconscious by a blow over the head. His attacker was a man with a piece of lead pipe. Maguire recovered, however, and led his guards in the final clean-up.

Provincial Constable Keefer of Kitchener was struck by a baseball bat wielded by a rioter and a flying stone struck Detective Ted Lamb of the Guelph city police force. Neither was seriously injured.

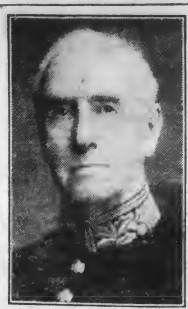

The small group of prisoners who refused to eat dinner at noon were taken in a body to one of the dormitories by guards. Less than three hours later reformatory officials went to the dormitory and singled out four of the group, regarding them as ring-leaders.

At once rioting started by the men who demanded their leaders be returned. They smashed furniture, lighting fixtures were torn down and the smell of revolt spread like wildfire.

Dozens of small fires, none of which made headway in the steel-walled, concrete-floored prison, were set. The Guelph fire department was sent for at the time reformatory authorities requested assistance of provincial police and city police.

The force of prison guards, unarmed as always, could make no headway in breaking up the wild demonstration.

Goering Goes To Rome

Views Of Premier Mussolini On Reich Colonial Ambitions
Berlin.—Premier Mussolini's views on armaments and aid to German colonial ambitions took Air Minister Hermann Goering to Rome, it was disclosed.

The Reich, it was emphasized, wanted to know just how far Mussolini would go along if Chancellor Hitler forced the colonial issue to a decision in economic parleys with France.

The question of military strength and armaments, authoritative sources said, would be a continuation of discussions begun during the visit here last year by General Giuseppe Valle, Italian undersecretary for war.

Obviously a "vacation," Goering's Rome visit would serve a "useful political purpose," these sources said.

A foreign office communique announced negotiations already under way for a trade treaty between Germany and France. Any economic agreement, it was believed, would include also political commitments by Hitler on armaments and peace in Europe. Many believed definite action also might be taken toward returning to Germany some of her possessions lost in the Great War. If Hitler pledged Germany to keep the peace.

German-Franco Treaty

Negotiations Are Under Way For Trade Treaty Between The Two Countries

Berlin.—A government communique officially announced negotiations were under way for a trade treaty between Germany and France. The announcement, first official confirmation of a rapprochement move between the two countries whose relations had been strained over the Spanish civil war, also stated Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economic affairs, had cancelled a scheduled trip to Paris.

Dr. Schacht, who was to open the German building at the Paris exposition, notified the German commissioner for the exposition his duties in Berlin were too heavy to allow him to be absent.

The communique added: "German-French negotiations for a trade treaty for the present will be conducted by departmental experts."

South Africa Needs Men

Cape Town.—Employment conditions in South Africa have never been healthier, the department of labor declared in an official report. The department said it could easily place 2,000 men if they were available.

Wheat Carryover Solved

Expert Surplus Will Be Wiped Out By End Of Next July

Ottawa.—The government will meet the new session of parliament with one of the nation's problems, the wheat surplus, solved at least for the present. For several years the burden of great quantities of wheat stored in the Dominion ranked next to the problem of railway deficits and unemployment.

Figures now available show that wheat in store in Canada on Jan. 8 was 146,353,672 bushels less than on the corresponding date last year and as the carryover at the end of the crop year, July 31 last, was 198,747,699 bushels the surplus would be wiped out before the end of next July were the sales to keep up to last year's average. They have run much higher than a year ago for the first half of the crop year.

With reports of European nations, including the United Kingdom, desiring to build up wheat supplies against a possible war, Canada's store of wheat is no longer a worry. The carryover reached the high of 211,710,188 bushels at the end of the crop year in 1933 and was still up to 203,273,016 in 1935.

Beauharnois Wins Case

Judgment For $373,750 Against Ontario Hydro Commission

Toronto.—Judgment for $373,750 and interest was given by Chief Justice H. E. R. in favor of Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company of Montreal against the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission.

The company claimed in its supreme court action that the amount awarded was due under an agreement with the commission by which it was to supply or hold available for the commission 250,000 horsepower of electric energy at $15 per horsepower. Beauharnois contracts with the commission were cancelled under the Power Commission Act, 1935, passed by the Ontario legislature. The chief justice provided that the commission pay $373,750 and interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum on $183,750 from Nov. 20, 1935; on $245,000 from Oct. 20, 1935; on $245,000 from Jan. 20, 1936; until date of the judgment. He also awarded the company costs.

Build Up Wheat Reserves

Britain Plans To Accumulate Large Reserves Of Grain

London.—Plans to build up huge reserves of wheat and other foodstuffs will be submitted to parliament, officials of the new food defence plans department said.

The chief justice provided that the commission pay $373,750 and interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum on $183,750 from Nov. 20, 1935; on $245,000 from Oct. 20, 1935; on $245,000 from Jan. 20, 1936; until date of the judgment. He also awarded the company costs.

They explained buying would not start until the necessary funds had been appropriated, but predicted that a reserve sufficient for between six months and a year would be accumulated gradually.

Experts believe Britain would need to store 3,500,000 tons of wheat (approximately 136,250,000 bushels) for a full year's reserve but doubted this much would be obtained in the near future because of the cost and storage difficulties.

Other essential needed for a year's supply would include 5,000,000 tons of potatoes, 2,250,000 tons of onions, 1,250,000 tons of cheese, and 625,000 tons of butter or margarine.

Was Pilot's License

Rome.—Premier Mussolini won his military pilot's license after rising nearly 15,000 feet at the controls of his own trimotor plane and looping the loop like a veteran stunt flyer.

Di Pace, who is 53, smilingly received his pilot's insignia from General Giuseppe Valle, air ministry undersecretary.

Loyalty To King Voted Unanimously In House Of Commons

Foreign Enlistment Act

Legality In Dominions Is Problem For Legal Experts

London.—Legal experts are confronted with the problem of whether the Foreign Enlistment Act applies or does not apply to the Dominions.

The weight of opinion inclines to the view that where a dominion has not passed repealing legislation the Foreign Enlistment Act does apply to all British subjects whether in the dominions or not. The effect of this will be that volunteers for Spain from any dominion (unless that dominion has passed contrary legislation) will be liable to the same penalty of two years' imprisonment as volunteers from the United Kingdom.

Under clause IV of the Statute of Westminster no act of the parliament of the United Kingdom passed after the commencement of the Statute of Westminster "extends to any part of the law of that dominion unless it is expressly declared in the British act that such dominion has requested and consented to enactment. Therefore the abridgment bill passed by the British parliament applied to Canada because the Canadian government had "requested and consented" to its enactment.

Mr. Woodsworth made it clear he did not object to the passage of the resolution, but he contended it should not be passed until parliament had passed the bill changing the succession to the throne. He argued the government had no authority to act on behalf of Canada in associating this country with the act of the Imperial parliament giving effect to the abdication of Edward VIII and the accession of the new king.

Many Take Housing Loans

Total Number In Canada Is Given As 1,818

Quebec.—Quebec ranks second in the number of loans made by banks under the federal home improvement plan, it was announced by the secretary of the Quebec board of trade. Figures for the provinces were supplied the local trade board by C. E. Gravel, chairman of the consultative committee for the province of Quebec.

Up to Dec. 1, 1936, a total of 322 loans had been made Quebecers through banks, the loans totalling $159,517, an average of $495 per loan. Ontario led the Dominion with 696 loans totalling $242,912, an average of $350 per loan.

Total number of loans in the Dominion is given as 1,818 representing $652,170, or an average of $355 for each loan. The loans by provinces are, in addition to Ontario and Quebec: Manitoba, 64 loans, $24,274; $380; Saskatchewan, 52 loans, $18,135; $347; Alberta, 145 loans, $64,785, $440.

Resolution On Order Paper

Consentition Of Wealth For War Purpose Will Be Discussed

Ottawa.—Consentition of wealth in the event of war is at least assured of discussion in the forthcoming session of the House of Commons. A resolution to that effect has been placed on the order paper by T. C. Douglas, young Co-operative Commonwealth Federation member for Weyburn, Saskatchewan. The resolution reads:

"In the opinion of this house the government of the day immediately bring down legislation to provide that in the event of a war in which Canada is actively participating, there shall be an automatic conscription of all wealth, industrial, financial, transportation, natural resources, for the duration of the war, and that a penalty shall be imposed for the violation thereof."

Change In Status

First British Ambassador To Egypt Presents Credentials

Cairo, Sir Miles Lampson, first British ambassador to Egypt, presented his credentials to the Egyptian council at Abdin palace.

Elaborate pageantry marked the change in the status of the British representative. For two years previously Sir Miles was British high commissioner. Under the Anglo-Egyptian treaty ratifications of which were exchanged a few weeks ago, the British residency became an embassy.

Riding in a state coach, the new ambassador was greeted at the palace by a guard of honor and the playing of the British national anthem.

Premiers Confer

Winnipeg.—Premiers Patterson of Saskatchewan and Bracken of Manitoba conferred on representations they will make to Dominion government officials as they sped to Ottawa. The premiers will discuss relief-finance problems with Finance Minister Duggan.

Ottawa.—Loyalty to King George VI. was unanimously voted in the House of Commons, although J. S. Woodsworth took strong objection to the proceeding by which his Majesty became king of Canada and to the manner of presenting measures dealing with his accession in parliament.

The sharp voice of the headlined leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation injected the only note of controversy into the passing of an address of loyalty to the new king. It was the chief business of the sitting which ended with members and gallery spectators rising to sing, "God Save the King."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King moved the adoption of the message, with George VI. acting as Con-servative leader, as second. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, endorsed it in the French language, and John Macdonald, Social Credit leader, joined in the sentiments on behalf of the party.

Mr. Woodsworth made it clear he did not object to the passage of the resolution, but he contended it should not be passed until parliament had passed the bill changing the succession to the throne. He argued the government had no authority to act on behalf of Canada in associating this country with the act of the Imperial parliament giving effect to the abdication of Edward VIII and the accession of the new king.

It was strange, said Mr. Woodsworth, that in standing up for the rights of the Canadian people, he should have to oppose Mr. Mackenzie King who, in opposition, always made a champion of those rights.

If the prime minister could place a new king in authority over Canada without consulting parliament the prime minister could declare war. The action of the government had made the statute of Westminster a farce, for that statute clearly stated no change in the succession to the throne could be made except with the consent of the parliament of the Dominion, he declared.

George VI. might be king of Canada in fact, he argued, but he was not king in law until the Canadian parliament had spoken.

The message expressed loyalty both to the king and to Queen Elizabeth. It referred to the troubled state of the world and concluded with a prayer that:

"Amid the confusions of the world, and the uncertainties of the times, your majesty's throne may be established in righteousness, that your majesty's counsellors may be endowed with wisdom; and that all endeavors of your majesty's reign may be directed to the well-governing of your peoples, the preservation of freedom and the advancement of unity and peace."

Mr. Mackenzie King left discussion of the events leading to the abdication of Edward VIII until a later occasion. He said these events served to bring out clearly the dual nature of the relationship of the king and the people, consecration on the part of the crown to what was highest and best and loyalty on the part of the people to the crown as a symbol of the most cherished things in their collective life.

Mr. Woodsworth at one stage said Prime Minister Baldwin had put the former king in a position which left him no alternative, and Mr. Mackenzie King interrupted to say this was not the case.

King Edward had first consulted Mr. Baldwin about his proposed marriage and Mr. Baldwin had given his opinion. He had not placed the king in any position.

Both Mr. King and Sir George Elsey had words of praise for the new king, saying that the king was his father, the late George V. Sir George predicted the prestige of the monarch would be enhanced "during the new reign."

Body Is Returned

Body Of Belgian Attaché At Madrid Embassy Sent To Brussels

Traillon, France.—Body of Baron Jacques de Borghgrave, Belgian attaché at the Madrid embassy, was brought here aboard the French destroyer Kersant.

Belgium had given the Valencia Socialist administration short notice to send the body out of Spain, charging the baron was killed during an uprising among foreign volunteers against the government. The body will be taken to Brussels by special train.

Irish Free State May End Trade War With Great Britain

London. Possibility of a settlement of the "trade war" which has troubled commercial relations between Great Britain and the Irish Free State for the past five years was seen here after a lengthy conference between President Sean MacBride and Dominion Secretary Malcolm Macdonald.

Macdonald left the Irish premier's hotel after conferring with him for more than three hours. It was understood an important statement would be issued following a second conference.

John W. Doherty, Irish Free State high commissioner in London; Dennis Devlin, of the Free State external affairs ministry; and Sean Brennan, De Valera's assistant, were present during the discussion.

Informed quarters admitted a complete settlement of all outstanding Irish questions would prove extremely difficult. They said some decisive progress might be realized, however.

The Anglo-Irish trade war originated after election of De Valera's fiasco fair party in 1932 when the Irish president refused to continue the $25,000,000 loan annuity paid to Great Britain by Irish farmers. His action was followed immediately by a retaliatory tariff law applied to Irish products by Great Britain, through which the $25,000,000 was expected to be realized. Then the Free State increased its tariff on British products and brought trade between the two countries to a virtual standstill.

First indication that either London or Dublin was willing to relax its stand was seen at the beginning of last year when an agreement was reached for the export of Irish cattle in exchange for British coal.

Since then President De Valera has shown increasing signs of desiring a reconciliation with Britain.

On April 1st the new constitution of India becomes effective in the vast Indian Empire. It took Great Britain more than eight years to prepare a constitution which grants India self-rule with certain reservations, and to be entirely self-ruling. Because of the acute religious differences in India, the British Government does not see how complete self-rule will work at present, and as a matter of fact only the presence of British police is a safety valve on a veritable volcano of religious strife. Above all, the British Government does not see how the Indian people can be trusted to run the country.

In the map of India which gives a graphic description of the problem faced by the Viceroy and the British Government. The area in white is British ruled, while the black area, with a population of 75,000,000 is under the ruling princes.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

EVER onward and upward is the ambition of most normal people, recalling the "lad who bore 'mid snow and ice, the banner with this strange device—'Excelsior.'" January has so far given more than a fair share of snow and ice, but then this climate develops a hardy, virile race of people who refuse to be dismayed by 20 and 30 below zero temperatures.

HOCKEY and curling games have merrily proceeded, youngsters have enjoyed skiing down the hills or slithering a puck on a frozen puddle, householders have shoveled coal into furnaces and carried out pails of ashes and generally speaking, everyone has been busy doing something. It will be a welcome relief for a let-up in this unusually stormy month.

PROVINCIAL politics continue to draw the spotlight of public interest, with rumors of Communists allying themselves with Social Creditors, and Pat Lenihan telling the denizens of this area why they should join hands with the Aberhartsists, though the premier attempts to refute the impression that his party is in collusion with the ultra-radicals and there is no left wing in the legislature. Insurance companies continue to rouse his ire; with a shot at the newly-organized People's Party, which last week announced its provincial executive pro-tem. There is no lack of interesting topics to occupy the minds of young and old.

FRESH from a trip to the British Dominions and other countries, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition in the Federal parliament, returns to Canada more proud than ever of the Commonwealth of Nations and of Canada. Regardless of one's political color, admiration is generally expressed for his indefatigable energy in gaining additional knowledge and new experiences. He has ample wealth to enable him to travel, and he spends it with a view to giving Canada the benefit of his experience in government of the country in its broadest sense.

LIFE INSURANCE is the only way in which thousands of people are able to create an estate so they will not have their relatives passing the hat to bury them, or provide for a small income when working days are o'er. Were it not for this, relief funds would be needed to a very much larger extent than at present to care for those who come to the end of the trail without having saved anything. 'Tis hard to fathom why Premier Aberhart should denounce companies which encourage thrift, and help people to help themselves. British-Israelism which some are so interested in also is criticized by the premier, for he stated that the Bible can be interpreted to mean just what you want it to, according to your particular view. He denies the right to others he so freely employs in his Biblical teachings.

WILLIAM Jennings Bryan, in the famous evolution trial in Tennessee some years ago, was asked by Clarence Darrow, advocate for the defence, if he believed that everything in the Bible was true. Bryan replied in the affirmative. Then, said Darrow, if the Bible stated that Jonah swallowed the whale instead of the whale swallowing Jonah, would you believe it? Bryan replied that he believed in the bible, and despite Darrow pressing the point, Bryan would only admit that he implicitly believed the Bible was true. Darrow made so much of Bryan's refusal to answer his direct question, that it proved Bryan's downfall in the famous trial. The point is, so much can be made of Biblical history to suit the individual viewpoint, that whatever you believe you may comfort yourself with, but in trying to force your viewpoint on others, you are treading on treacherous ground. Your enemies may confound you with their knavish tricks, if you view it that way.

STOCKTAKING being the order of the day, churches review the past year. Locally it is not a cheerful picture. One such meeting reported in this paper reveals that more spending or purchasing power distributed through steadier employment has had a reverse effect on church revenue. Even the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute reported a deficit of over $700 in 1936, which brought forth a fervent appeal during the Sunday broadcast to radio listeners to come to the rescue. On the other hand, Bishop Sherman's appeal for $8,000 to make up for the loss caused to Diocesan funds by grossly unfair legislation cutting interest on investments in half, brought in over $10,000, which must be encouraging to the Bishop.

ASSESSMENT OF town property is now proceeding, so quietly that most people wonder who the gentleman is who comes knocking at the door with a long measuring stick and a black notebook. They don't play any "knock-knock, whose there?" jokes on him, for one glance is sufficient to impress them that he is on serious business, the result of which will become quite plain when they get assessment notices for 1937. It is the first assessment since 1927, so the result will be awaited with keen interest and subsequently (continued on next page)

TOWN of COLEMAN FINANCIAL STATEMENT

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1936

Calgary, Alberta,
8th January, 1937.

The Mayor and Councillors,
The Town of Coleman,
Alberta.

Gentlemen:

In accordance with your instructions, I have audited the books and records of the Town of Coleman for the year ended 31st December, 1936, and besides completing the printed report form furnished by the Department of Municipal Affairs for Alberta, I have prepared the following Statements from the records of the Town for your information:—

1. Cash Statement for year 1936.
2. Revenue Statement for year 1936.
3. Balance Sheet as at 31st December, 1936.

The Cash Statement deals only with the actual cash received and paid out by the Town during the year regardless of what these transactions related to. The Revenue Statement shows only the receipts and expenses applicable to the year 1936 regardless of whether such receipts actually reached the Town Office before 31st December, 1936, or whether such expenses were actually paid out before 31st December, 1936. This Statement shows that, after making the usual allowances for Depreciation of the various Physical Assets of the Town, the 1936 business of the Town produced a Surplus of $1,822.32. You will note, however, that in addition to the ordinary Operating Expenses for the year there was an additional sum of $2,423.34 expended for Capital Expenditures on account of new street paving and improvements.

You will note that the Town actually collected the sum of $15,108.98 on account of Town tax during the year, which was only $452.32 less than the 1936 Town Tax Levy. Similarly the Levy for Provincial Tax was $750.00, of which sum there was $568.30 actually collected. Further, you will see that although the total cash collected during 1936 was actually $989.45 less than in 1935, yet in 1936 there was a reduction of $4,508.23 effected in the cash expenditures, as compared with 1935, in spite of the fact that in 1936 it was necessary to spend $516.08 more for Police work, and $239.90 more in connection with the Fire department, than in 1935.

While the Town now has the sum of $52,709.98 invested in Capital Fixed Assets, the attached Balance Sheet records that there is now the very substantial Depreciation Reserve of $39,298.69 charged in the accounts against these Physical Assets, or approximately 75% of their cost value. Inasmuch as some $12,935.13 of these Physical Assets are less than two years old, this is a very satisfactory position, particularly as the Town has no other liabilities that cannot be paid off in cash when due.

I beg to report that I visited your office four times during the past year and that on each occasion I found the work up to date, the records in balance and the cash properly accounted for and deposited in the Bank.

Subject to the foregoing, I certify that, in my opinion, the attached Balance Sheet is properly drawn up to disclose a true and correct view of the affairs of the Town of Coleman as at 31st December, 1936, according to the best of my information, the explanations given to me and as shown by the books of the Town of Coleman, Alberta.

(Signed) E. D. BATTRUM, Auditor.

BURNS' NIGHT AT THE UNITED CHURCH

In commemoration of the anniversary of Robert Burns, the Scottish poet, a special feature at the evening service at the United Church will be an address on "The Religion and Poetry of Robert Burns." This address was given some years ago and was much appreciated, not only by the Scots in the congregation, but by others to whom the poet was only a name. A cordial invitation is given to all who may be interested in this subject.

The effort to bring financial matters to a close for 1936 will be continued through the month. All those with any responsibility or interest are asked to do their part as soon as possible. The annual meeting of the congregation will be held February 1st.

The Canadian Girls in Training, under the leadership of Miss Grace McKinnon, held a very pleasant skating party on Wednesday evening of last week. After their regular meeting, with their friends, enjoyed a session at the rink, returning afterwards to the club room for games and refreshments. Weiners and coffee were provided in abundance and gave an excellent finish to the evening.

The Young Women's Missionary Group met at the home of Miss Margaret Allan for the second regular meeting. A very profitable and pleasant evening was spent with a social period at the close. Any young woman interested in this might get in touch with any of the members or with Mrs. Bevan at the Manse.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Louise Destobel, injured several weeks ago at McGillivray mine, continues to show improvement from his serious injuries.

L. G. Llewellyn, of Carbondale, is a patient in the men's ward.

OUR GOVERNMENT

Alberta's Political Situation is Finally Clarifying Itself.

A visitor from London, England, dropping in on us to see "How the government was introducing the principles of Social Credit," has helped considerably to clear the air. He is John Hargrave, Greenhirts Social Credit leader from England.

His conclusions, given in the form of a written question and answer interview to the Edmonton Journal (also carried by The Calgary Herald and the Canadian Press) January 14, are briefly:

1. After 16 months in office, the government has failed to even commit itself to Social Credit.
2. It has failed because of a lack of technical knowledge.
3. The government has been "groping its way."
4. Scrip, covenants, codes, capital levies, and taxation increases have nothing to do with Social Credit. (Social Credit's first pledge, according to London experts, is to reduce taxation).

Then, there seems to be somewhere in Edmonton an 11-point plan for the province. Informed circles testify this plan was NOT formulated by the "planning committee", headed by Minister of Health Dr. W. W. Cross, and appointed by Mr. Aberhart on his return from Ottawa, but by his technical adviser, Mr. Hargrave.

The next thing is—Why did Mr. Aberhart, after all we've heard all these months, find it necessary to call in somebody to implement Social Credit?

Why, if he needed help, did he not go about it in a business way instead of accepting the offer (gratis) of a passer-by?

Albertans may soon come to a few conclusions slightly embarrassing to their first public servant, Mr. Aberhart. Or does two bad two no longer make four?

Detroit Free Press: If they can do gloves so they will glow in the dark it is watches, why not make ladies' under a seat at the movies?

Movie stars, declares a film publication, are going in more and more enthusiastically for gardening. It must be wonderful to have a real plot to work in.—Punch.

Royal Sponsors Gave Portraits

The Canadian Pacific, on land and sea, is proud of its close contact with Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. The company's proudest possessions, the Royal York Hotel in Toronto, and the 20,000-ton Atlantic liner Duchess of York. The illustration shows the autographed photograph of Their Majesties presented to the liner which was sponsored by Her Majesty and named for her. A similar portrait was presented to the huge Toronto hostelry.

Here and There

Gift of a visit home for Christmas and New Year was the unusual present suggested for the year end by G. E. Carter, general passenger agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, as he explained the company's pre-paid ticket plan for sending transportation to out-of-town relatives and friends. Arrangement of details of such visits is extremely simple, Mr. Carter said, and tickets cost no more despite use of telegraph in case of emergency and the guarantee that the tickets will reach the right person. This service is not confined to Christmas and New Year but is particularly popular at this season.

Canadian and world ski-ing enthusiasts will have an opportunity to test the Rocky Mountains' claim of having ski facilities equal to any when the Dominion championships of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association are held from March 5 to 8 on the steep slopes of 8,275-foot Mount Norquay, four miles from the Canadian Pacific Railway station at Banff.

A BUILT TO THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO from the Kerry Hill Flock Book Society, in North Wales, ten ewes and one ram, of the world famous Kerry Hill sheep are now at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. The gift was arranged through W. Rupert Davies, President and Editor of the Kingston "Whig-Standard", and the sheep, known in Wales as "speckie-faced rentpayers", are expected to prove extremely popular with stock breeders across Canada. Experts consider the Kerry Hill sheep an outstanding breed, noted for their adaptability to any environment, and for their general utility.

Canadian Pacific semi-streamlined, air-conditioned trains which have been a feature of railway development this year, have had a big reaction on Christmas presents and are now being shown in many of the big department stores in the form of models. These miniature trains are having great success with the kiddies who are given rides in them in the stores and then have the opportunity of getting a toy train for Christmas, built on the same lines as the miniature.

DID you know that during the year 1936 one million seven hundred and fourteen thousand (1,714,000) bushels of malting barley were purchased from the farmers of Alberta for brewing purposes and all this at an average premium of thirty-five point eight eight cents (35.88 cents) per bushel over the regular price for 3 C.W. Barley. Just figure out for yourself how much this means to the farmers of Alberta!

Local News

In the absence of Mayor Pattinson, Councillor Haysom is acting mayor. Mrs. A. Beveridge and Betty spent the week-end in Calgary.

A number of Coleman people took advantage of the special C.P.R. rates to spend the week-end in Calgary.

C. W. May of Calgary is making an assessment of all town property, the first since 1927.

Andy Thornber has kindly consented to give a brief entertainment at the social following the whist drive in St. Alban's parish hall on Friday evening.

Friday last was a particularly bad day for the railroad. The eastbound was late about an hour and forty minutes owing to the regular passenger engine being substituted by a freight engine.

Mrs. Sam Cooley suffered painful back injuries last week when she fell from a table on which she was standing in an attempt to repair a window shade, losing her balance and falling to the floor.

The regular monthly meeting of the Canadian Legion and the Women's Auxiliary were held last Friday in the I.O.O.F. hall, followed by a card party. The building and other committees reported.

S. Newton of Lethbridge has taken charge of the local warehouse of Scott Fruit Co., succeeding Tom Parks. Mr. and Mrs. Parks and children left for Toronto where Mr. Parks has secured employment in a paper factory.

Hugo Mackie sailed this week from St. John, N.B., for Europe where he will join his team-mates, the Kimberley Dynamiters. Mackie was injured several weeks ago when he was the victim of a collision between a taxi and street car.

The Press this week extends its thanks to Alex. Easton for the construction of the first press box ever to be installed in a Pass arena. After two years of agitation with the lessees and hockey executive the Press on Monday evening were shown to their own private box. Many thanks, Alex! Creegan take note.

ANOTHER DUD

After collecting licenses from tradesmen and mechanics, including the printing trade, under the proposed code system governing trades, Premier Aberhart informs the public that the codes will not be enforced. A general clamor is being made by some trades that the license fees be returned, as they range from $5.00 to $50.00—for what? Just more revenue for the government and to pay inspectors who know very little about what they are supposed to inspect. It is another instance of ill-advised legislation by the provincial government, whose Prosperity Certificates are about as dead as the dodo insofar as being used as currency is concerned.

Minneapolis Journal: Minneapolis librarians find that children still read "The Last of the Mohicans." Young moviegoers, perhaps, trying to detect the author in an error.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

(continued from opposite page) lots of comparisons one with the other. This gentleman will want to know whether your house is built of clapboards or the highest grade lumber, how many plumbing fixtures there are, if the cellar is of concrete or is just a hole in the ground, and many other things that possibly you don't know much about even after having lived in your home for umpteen years. And its of no use trying to fool him, for he is too wise a bird when it comes to appraising the value on your property. So clean up all the discarded bottles from Christmas celebrations or he might assess them too; tidy up the cellar and the porch, and make the gentleman's visit as pleasant as possible. He may drop in at any time.

The "Big Interests" In Life Insurance

Are the Policyholders and Beneficiaries

IN Life Insurance, the "Big Interests" are the millions of Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries—men, women and children who share in the protection made possible by individual thrift and foresight.

The concern of those who act on behalf of these policyholders and beneficiaries is to safeguard their interests. Their accumulated savings, amounting to more than two billion dollars, must be invested wisely to obtain the greatest yield consistent with safety. Every promise made in Life Insurance policies must be fulfilled completely and promptly.

Canadian policyholders may feel justly proud of the wise and careful administration of their trust funds. Even in the darkest days of the depression, their companies met every obligation promptly and fully—bringing financial security to thousands of Canadian homes.

There is added satisfaction in the fact that the investment of Life Insurance funds has helped to build Canadian homes, schools and hospitals—and develop agriculture, industries and public utilities. Thus, the whole Dominion benefits from Life Insurance.

In the future, as in the past, Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries must always be the "Big Interests" of Life Insurance.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Retail Merchants' Association, London, Ont., has opened a drive to want making Boxing Day (Dec. 26) a legal holiday throughout Canada. Russia has set up a $14,000,000,000 war budget, boosting her defence estimates for 1937 more than $1,000,000,000 over last year's.

Twenty-one cities out of 27 which held civic nominations in British Columbia recently, elected their mayors by acclamation.

What was described as the first metropolitan daily newspaper published exclusively for children appeared from the presses of Nishi Nishi, one of Tokyo's great journals.

The New York-Park air race originally scheduled to start May 21 in commemoration of the first trans-Atlantic flight by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, has been postponed until August.

Nine spiders' webs ingeniously mounted between sheets of glass and made visible by white powder and a black background, form an interesting exhibit at the Natural History Museum, South Kensington, London.

Silicosis in the last 10 years has cost the Ontario workmen's compensation board $260,000,000 and this year will likely cost $60,000,000. Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Ontario health minister, told a labor delegation.

Professor Pelham Edgar, president, told the annual general meeting of the Association of Canadian Bookmen that membership had grown to 2,300. A year ago there were only two members, he said.

Sunken Treasure

Searching For Gold In Wrecked In 1780

In quest of millions in sunken gold, Simon Lake, 70-year-old submarine inventor, tricked half a dozen rusty coins through his fingers and brooded wryly on the "profits" of treasure-hunting.

"Nickels," he murmured, "nickels, and dimes and junk!" That's all he has to show, so far, on his three-year search for the wreck of the British frigate Husar, lying 12 fathoms deep in the swirling currents of New York's East river, where the ship sank in 1780.

In cold cash, Lake has retrieved $3.57—disregarded by suction pumps delving in the muddy river bed for the hulk of the treasure ship. Lake is mystified about the coins. They're not old English coins from the Husar's treasure trove. They're just fairly modern American specie—the oldest being a 50-cent piece, dated 1914.

"The river bottom must be thick with them," he said, pointing out that the suction pump has operated only around a small sector.

Under the heading of junk, Lake displayed a segment of false teeth, a cheap watch, a pair of brass knuckles, a sickle and a pearl-handled jack-knife of dubious pearl.

For more than half a century Lake watched a dozen or more expeditions try to locate the Husar's golden cache.

"I'm pretty sure I've located the wreck," he said, "but it is buried under mud and tar and it may be weeks before we strike the hulk itself."

The Husar, a full-rigged 28-gun frigate, was wrecked while fleeing with money for the redcoat army after the American revolutionary forces had driven British troops out of New York city.

A Valuable Painting

Reported To Be Worth $100,000, Will Be Returned To Vancouver From New York

An oil-painting by Bartolome Estaban Murillo, once available to Vancouver city museum for $2,000 and now reported to be worth $100,000, will be brought back to Vancouver from New York.

But the painting which hung for more than eight years in an obscure corner of the museum will not be loaned again to the city, Hugh Maxwell, its Vancouver owner, said. Instead, it will be placed in a bank vault for safekeeping.

First announcement that the picture was once available to the museum was made by T. P. O. Menzies, curator of the museum, who said he had strongly urged the board of directors to buy it, but the board did not buy. "Nobody in Vancouver would believe it was really a Murillo," Menzies said.

In Turkey, the lower classes invest their savings in copper utensils, their standing in the community being measured by the number of such utensils they possess.

U.S. National Defence

Plan To Begin Construction Of Two New Battleships

A record peacetime national defence fund of nearly $1,000,000,000, including money to begin construction of two new battleships, was tabled by President Roosevelt for the 1938 fiscal year.

Increased expenditures for air-planes, ordnance equipment and expanded personnel for both the United States army and navy also were proposed.

The president recommended in his annual budget message to congress a total appropriation of $880,763,000 for the naval and military establishments, an increase of $92,480,000 over estimated outlay for the current fiscal period ending June 30.

The 1937 national defence estimates, aggregating $887,881,000, constituted the previous peacetime high. Actual appropriations for that period, however, amounted to $916,347,391.

To start work on the two battleships, the keels of which he ordered laid only a short time before transmitting increased to $587,302,000 the original navy department estimate for 1938 of $563,596,350.

The budget, besides providing sums necessary for carrying out the navy's regular building programme designed to expand the fleet to full allotted strength by 1942, proposed an outlay of $49,500,000 for the bureau of aeronautics, a $10,000,000 increase over 1937.

Of this sum $28,000,000 would be used to purchase about 400 new air-planes, compared with $27,000,000 authorized for that purpose this year.

The president proposed that navy-marine pay be located from $201,216,452 for 1937 to $214,687,000, to care for additional recruits required by the commissioning of new ships, and that total army pay be raised from $154,323,560 to $162,349,100, to cover similar authorized enlargement of enlisted strength.

Silk For Coronation Robes

Will Be Largest Amount England Has Produced For 300 Years

Intended for the coronation robes of King George and other members of the royal family, 500,000 miles of silk thread is being reeled off from cocoons behind the old walls of Lullingstone Castle at Farnham.

This is the first large amount to be produced in England since the days of King Charles II. Nearly 300 years ago, it is the result of the silk thread in being reeled off from cocoons behind the old walls of Lullingstone Castle at Farnham.

The silk produced there is considered too valuable to be used in the making of the most expensive silk stockings. Queen Mary recently inspected the farm and expressed keen interest in the preparation for the coronation robes.

The Bank of England began active operation on January 1, 1935.

Air Rifles Are Dangerous

Menace To Public Safety And Should Not Be Sold

A young man may lose the sight of an eye as the result of a boy's carelessness with an air rifle. Two lads in possession of air rifles in the neighborhood have been summoned to Police Court. But this is a case of locking the stable door after the horse is stolen. It will profit the victim nothing even though a conviction should be registered and the boy punished for his offence.

At the very same time that this incident took place, a resident in the east end had his bedroom window perforated in two places from the same cause.

Air rifles are a menace and their sale should be prohibited by law. It is contrary to law to sell dynamite to children because it is a highly dangerous explosive. The air rifle is not so likely to cause serious injury to the owner but is even more likely to cause damage to other people. Toronto Telegram.

Attracted Much Attention

North Carolina Village Advertised For Two Used Jail Cells

Calypto, a North Carolina hamlet, broke into the news recently by advertising in outside papers for "two used jail cells." At latest report nobody with "used jail cells" had answered the ad, but it attracted a lot of attention from curious folk who wanted to know why Calypso wanted "used jail cells." Until last summer, a Calypso correspondent explains, the town got by without a jail, sending its occasional offenders to the lock-up of a neighboring village. Then, it appears, some Calypso booster talked the community into seeking WPA aid for public improvement. The "improvement" took form of a brick building to be used as a jail and for other municipal services. When completed, it was found that no provision had been made for the "jail cells." Hence the advertisement for "used cells."

Serial Has No End

Has Been Running In Japanese Newspaper For 20 Years

In one Japanese newspaper they run a serial story that is a veritable Thousand and One Nights' Romance. Already it has passed its 7,300th instalment, and this story without apparent end is expected to last for many more months, although it has been running continuously for over twenty years.

Its author has been dead these many years, but that didn't damp the newspaper's enthusiasm for its lengthy tale—they called in the author's son, and each week the story continues as before. Fortunately this author also has a son!

Golden text: The very works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me. John 5:36. Lesson: John 5:1-8-71. Devotional Reading: Colossians 1:9-18.

Explanations And Comments

The Cure at the Pool of Bethesda, John 5:1-14. In Jerusalem by the sheep gate (the gate mentioned in Neh. 3:1; 12:39) there was a pool where the sheep destined for sacrifice were washed before the pool porches had been built for the protection of those who came there to bathe. There were small compartments, covered overhead, and open toward the pool. This pool was called in Hebrew Bethesda, which means "House of Mercy." There the sick, the blind, the halt, the withered, cowered, hoping to be cured, and among them was a man who had been afflicted for 38 years. His trouble seemingly was paralysis. When Jesus saw him lying there he asked, "Wouldst thou be made whole?" Hast thou the will to be made well? The man had been hopeless so long that he had lost all hope, and Jesus first aroused his desire, his will, to be cured.

"Arise, take up thy bed, and walk," Jesus bade. The bed was only a blanket, or mat, which could be easily rolled up and carried. Often it was only one's outer garment. Immediately the man was able to do as Jesus bade.

It was the Sabbath on which this cure took place, and the Jews told the man that it was not lawful for him to take up his bed. The man replied that he who healed him had bade him do this but when asked who he healed him he could not tell them for Jesus was no longer there. Afterwards Jesus met this man in the temple and bade him sin no more, lest a worse thing befall him, the inference being that his affliction was due to sin.

The Feeding of Five Thousand on the Northeastern Shore of the Sea of Galilee, John 6:1-14. Jesus is the Source of Life—this is the thought of the closest John 5: Jesus is the Sustainer of life. This is the thought of John 6.

This feeding of the five thousand is recorded by all four Evangelists and has been studied so frequently in our course of lessons that no explanation nor comment will be needed.

Foreign Exchange Savings

Cost Of Settling Foreign Accounts Of Post Office Department Cut In Half

Cost of settling the foreign accounts of Canada's post office department has been cut in half this year through closer co-operation of the department with the Bank of Canada, it was learned.

Transactions in foreign exchange, which amounted to more than $37,000,000 a year, have been one of the major problems of the financial branch during the last five years of vacillating exchange rates, with grey hairs resulting for more than one official.

The result of these savings to the nation is, though he hears little about it from the department, is reduced cost on money orders to the United States, Britain and elsewhere, which, in the aggregate, reaches a substantial figure. Since orders are sold closer to the market rate now, where there might have been a five-cent exchange charge on sterling before there is one of about two cents; where the margin charged on United States orders was around two cents, it is now half a cent or one cent.

A New Industry

Laboratory Is Cultivating Ladybugs To Eat Other Bugs

A new kind of live stock raising—growing of ladybugs to eat other bugs—was announced before the Entomological Society of America in Atlantic City, N.J. The ladybugs are cultivated in the laboratory and sent out to farmers to eat up the bugs on their plants. Dr. Gordon W. Haugh of Ohio State University told the entomologists he feeds the ladybugs carefully throughout the winter on their favorite food, insects known as aphids, in order to have armies of them ready in the spring to start their campaign.

Relics Being Preserved

Canada's Flying History Is Being Shown In Museum Collection

Relics of the earliest developments in Canadian aviation are now being preserved, the whole story of Canada's unique part in the progress of flying being told in a collection in process of assembly at the newly established aeronautical museum housed in the building of the National Research Council in Ottawa.

Acquisition of the various exhibits has occupied Major General A. G. L. MacNaughton, chairman of the National Research Council, for some time.

Most important is the engine of the "Silver Dart," which made the first successful flight in the British Empire. This plane was built by the late Dr. Alexander Graham Bell at Baddeck, N.S., and flown in February, 1909, by J. A. McCurdy. It was built with McCurdy was F. W. "Casey" Baldwin, pioneer aviator, yachtsman and member of the Nova Scotia legislature.

First flight by the "Silver Dart" was half a mile, on February 23, 1909. Next day, at 30 feet, 4 1/2 miles was covered over the Bras D'Or Lakes, while on March 10 all previous records were shattered when the "Silver Dart" flew 20 miles.

Five months later the machine was cracked up landing at Petoosawa camp when Baldwin was demonstrating it to military authorities.

Other exhibits in the new national museum include the model propellers carved by Dr. Graham Bell while studying aerial methods of propulsion.

The war-time "crate" flown by the late Col. W. A. Barker, V.C., one of the Canadian aces of the Royal Flying Corps, is in the collection. The wings and fuselage are riddled with bullet holes, all of which have been carefully patched, but which are nevertheless noticeable.

Involved Much Work

English Sculptor Found Lion A Very Restless Model

It is likely that Sir William Reid Dick will be the sculptor, and Sir Giles Gilbert Scott the architect, of the memorial statue of King George to be erected facing the House of Parliament.

Sir William, a cheerful Scot of 57, has the advantage that he made a portrait bust, commissioned by King George himself, only three years ago.

One of his best-known works is the gigantic stone lion on the Menin Gate Memorial at Ypres. It involved far more work than any human portrait, for Sir William found when he looked for models in the Zoo that the lion is a particularly restless beast.

A year younger than Sir William, Sir Giles Gilbert Scott has been famous much longer, for he was only 22 when his design for Liverpool's $1,500,000 cathedral was accepted.

When the nave was finished he was passing through and a middle-aged woman spoke to him, not knowing that he was the architect.

She chattered about the beauty of the building, ending with, "And to think that it could have originated in the puny brain of an insignificant man!"

Scott, duly put in his place, fled without a word. — London Daily Sketch.

Record Is Unusual

Lord Crewe Held Position Of Confidence Under Three Former Sovereigns

The graceful little speech in which Lord Crewe, in the House of Lords, incidentally referred to himself "as one who, like very few of your lordships has had the honor of serving three former sovereigns in a position of confidence" must have sent a good many people's memories searching into the past. The last Liberal Ministry of Queen Victoria's reign went out of office in 1885, so that we are carried back forty years at least. Actually Lord Crewe, who is 79, was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland under that administration. He has been Lord-Waiting to the Queen nine years before that—fifty years ago.—London Spectator.

Coronation Bible

No Portrait Of The King And Queen Elizabeth Will Appear In This Issue

At the King's request, no portrait of himself and Queen Elizabeth will appear in coronation issues of the Bible.

It was understood His Majesty deemed it inappropriate that portraits of living persons should be reproduced in the Bible. Portraits of the sovereign in the Bible appeared during the three previous reigns. In England the printing is a monopoly of the King's printer and the two great universities, Oxford and Cambridge.

INDIA PREPARES FOR COMMENCEMENT OF NEW SELF-GOVERNING STATUS

The new Indian constitution which has taken eight years for the British Government to prepare will take effect April 1st, but not with the consent of all the Indian people. Gandhi and some of his followers are still demanding complete independence from Great Britain, and their political opinions range from progressive conservatism through passive resistance to communism. Long conferences are being held at the Capital in New Delhi between Lord Linlithgow and his advisers with a view to obtaining support from other Indian leaders of the moderate National Liberal Federation. At the top, left, is the dome of the Viceroy's Palace; below, is a picture of the House of Representatives; while at the top, right, are youthful Indian radicals looting shops in Bombay during one of the religious riots which Britain has been more or less successful in keeping in check.

Thou Shalt Not Love

GEORGIA GRAIG

She knew Sapphira must have more powders in the extra luggage the colored woman had brought along. Fervently she hunted for them, toasting lovely lingerie, expensive vials, boxes, every which way, here and there. At last she found the box she recognized. It was filled with little packages. She moved across the floor with them to the table on which the glass of water was all ready for her. With shaking fingers she began opening the little packages, one after the other, counting— one, two, three, four . . . She emptied them all into the glass. A strange excitement possessed her. She must hurry, hurry, hurry, before someone came to stop her!

The liquid foamed right to the top of the glass, a life-giving looking sort of liquid which the glass of water was all ready for her. With shaking fingers she began opening the little packages, one after the other, counting— one, two, three, four . . . She emptied them all into the glass. A strange excitement possessed her. She must hurry, hurry, hurry, before someone came to stop her!

The liquid foamed right to the top of the glass, a life-giving looking sort of liquid which the glass of water was all ready for her. With shaking fingers she began opening the little packages, one after the other, counting— one, two, three, four . . . She emptied them all into the glass. A strange excitement possessed her. She must hurry, hurry, hurry, before someone came to stop her!

But even as the glass touched her lips, her plan was rudely frustrated. There was a sudden noise behind her. A man's hand stretched out and knocked the glass from her fingers. The white liquid, not through its effervescence, foamed against the beige rug of one of Stephanie Dale's guest rooms.

Too late! Her fear had not been imaginary. . . . Again Pate was laughing at her. Her hurry had not been sufficient. . . .

The blurred figure beside hers in the mirror took definite shape. Starr choked out a sharp cry, swinging around.

"Michael!"

MADE IN CANADA

PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA

He said sharply: "You won't need a sedative tonight!"

He did not understand, of course, just what he had interrupted. He had never understood Starr from the beginning. He never would.

He looked very big and masterful, and altogether too much of any woman's ideal of a man as he stood there, not far behind Starr, framed in the open doorway to the terrace. His gray eyes were glowing with a strange fire that was not of this modern generation at all, but to Starr quickly recognizable as the fire that might have glowed in the eyes of any strange sheik of Arabia. Modern, yes—tremendously, vitally so. But . . .

His hard young mouth curved recklessly. The sleek lines of his waved hair which he always sought to repress had broken into little ruffled waves, wet and unruly.

Starr did not know how she found her voice. It was a strange, muffled voice that asked:

"What are you doing here, Michael? What do you want?"

He gave a short laugh. "What should I want in a lovely, dangerous woman's boudoir at midnight. . . . The answer ought to be obvious."

Dangers of ice picked Starr's spine. Here was a situation which was entirely foreign to her. One with which she did not know how to cope, for the simple reason that it was completely out of the scheme of all her experiences. She met it upstanding.

"We haven't anything to say to each other, Michael-Hassan," she said coolly, deliberately using the nickname which would presuppose her lack of interest.

His lip curled. "Haven't we, Starr?"

He was moving closer. He was overwhelmingly close, boring her through with those relentless gray eyes of his. He said, as smoothly as though they were discussing the next day's program:

"On the contrary, my dear, I think we have a lot to say to each other. We've been fooling ourselves, you and I, playing a game of bluff. But I've seen through it. And you ought to know you can't trifle with emotions which are stronger than men. You didn't really think that things could end like this, did you?"

The grim determination of his face added deep significance to his words. Starr took a shrinking backward step away from him. Her thin, frail hand was held against her lips in terror. She breathed:

"Michael, have you gone crazy?"

That strange laugh echoed again. Michael threw back his head to give freedom to it.

"Crazy? Yes! Sure I'm crazy. I'm crazy about you—mad as a June hatter. I hate you and yet I can't keep away from you. Riddle me that, will you? You—you're a devil from the burning sands, a real enigma of the desert, if the truth were known, and you've bewitched me! You're a menace, but I love you! You're poison in my blood!"

Starr cried out wildly, keeping her voice as repressed as emotion would allow.

"Michael! You're insane! You mustn't say such things! Here in Stephanie Dale's home, and you're going to marry her?"

"I'm not going to marry Stephanie Dale," Michael contradicted grimly. "I hope I'm not that stupid of cad. It would be fair to her, with your shadow between her and me—which it would be always! I'll always be branded as the sort of cad they do know about by everybody who knows me of course. I'm expecting that I'm prepared for it. It doesn't matter in the slightest. . . . Nothing matters, except that I want you!"

Step by step he came forward. Straight into the tortured pools of her long black eyes he looked, her mysterious eyes. This time he was too blinded by his own passion to see the reflection of her suffering that was mirrored starkly. He flung at her:

"If you want to play, I'll play with you! You are going to marry me now, tonight! Oh, it'll be the way you like it—all plays! We'll jazz up the wedding with the burlesque marriage vows—make a playground of marriage! We'll play—and now."

Oh, this was all preposterous! It was all more like a nightmare dream than anything she had known since the day she shivered beside a dampness-cooling wall and saw a three-thousand-year-old priestess shiver to dust, and heard . . . She would not think of it!

Michael was joking, of course. He must have had more to drink than she had thought, and this was his idea of a swell aftermath to a party and a getting even.

She was wrong. She saw that at the instant of seeing Michael's face plainly in her dim boudoir light. He meant what he said. He had never been more deadly in earnest. The defiant set of his arm, lean jaw spoke of a ruthless purpose.

Starr felt torn inside from the force of her own conflicting thoughts and emotions. There was the part of her that wanted Michael more than she wanted anything else in earth or heaven, even in spite of the cavernous way he would take her—perhaps because of it. She was not sure. On the other hand, there was the deep voice of conscience, warning her that she had not the right to marry any man, not even Michael. Oh, most particularly Michael! Her sacrifice to that ideal had already been placed on the altar.

And in the distance . . . There was a throbbing like the beat of tom-toms in her veins, like the rhythm of the drums of stretched goatskins heard in the desert, never forgotten. . . . Primitive passions, fighting for freedom. . . . Passions the most effective civilization could never down.

Starr waged her silent battle, the lights flickering before her like tantalizing pinpoints of beckoning temptation. Then—It was through frozen lips that she retorted:

"You're completely raving crazy, Michael Fairbourne! I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth. Why should I?"

"Of course I don't expect you to settle down and wise babies. I know better than that—now. Ours will be a play marriage, like all the rest of your playing, except that it will be real, as far as you're concerned. Our play-marriage will end tonight. Tomorrow I'm going away. I don't know where. It doesn't matter. The wedding ceremony will be a memory between us. . . . To me it will be a safeguard to insure me from ever making a fool of myself over a woman again."

Starr awayed and her breath seemed drawn out of her body as her eyes close to shut out the pain. Everything else had been offered her—and now this! Play-girl bride for a night to satisfy a man's blind desire for revenge! Was she to suffer this final humiliation before her fatal star burned out?

A desperate silence waited them in. He was waiting for her to speak. A desperate thought was milling around in her brain. Suppose somebody came—found them? Stephanie. . . .

Somehow she met Michael out of this room. Perhaps outside she could reason with him.

The seriousness that had tensed her words before changed to lightness. She glanced down at the fineness of her white silken nightdress and the gauziness of the chiffon necker that veiled her face. She smiled ruefully, and when she spoke, she seemed to give in.

"All right, Michael-Hassan," she said, with a rippling subdued laugh. "Have it your own way. You always do. Only give me a chance to slip into something in which I won't freeze to death. . . ." She gave him a playful shove. "Go on and get your car, and don't make too much noise about it!"

Says Climate Changing

Rivers Of Western Canada In Danger Of Drying Up

If the Rocky Mountain glaciers continue melting, in the opinion of Dan McCowan, western Canada's rivers will have dwindled "almost to nothing" in the next 500 years.

The glaciers which the Banff naturalist described as the "unsentimental" of the prairies, are decreasing slowly, McCowan told the Montreal Women's Club.

"The climate is changing in the Rockies," he said. The glaciers are losing more in the summer than they gain in the winter. If this continues, rivers like the Saskatchewan will have dwindled almost to nothing in 50 years.

"The only thing we can do," declared the noted naturalist "is to plant more trees to conserve the moisture."

Art Of Fan Making

Was Known In China Many Thousand Years Ago

Fans made of peacocks' feathers were used in China in 3000 B.C., and there is one in the Cairo Museum 4,000 years old. The invention was brought from China to Europe by Portuguese traders in the seventeenth century, and Paris was long the centre of fan-making. In 1683 King Louis XIV, expelled all his Protestant subjects and some of them brought the art over to England. The Fanmakers' Company of London dates from 1709.

Along Luzon mountain, Philippine Islands, are hundreds of bodies of Igorots, clothed and sitting in groups resembling "picnic" parties that have been there for years and have been perfectly mummified by the hot, dry air.

British Yacht Challenger

Sopwith To Bring Two Yachts To Contest America's Cup

Endeavour II, T. O. M. Sopwith's challenger for the America's cup, will leave Gosport for New York early in May, the New York Times reports. She will be accompanied by Endeavour I, the old challenger, against whom she will race before the cup contest.

It is still possible that Endeavour I may represent Great Britain in the series, according to the Times. Sopwith is uncertain which of the two boats is superior. A combination of bad weather and racing mishaps to Endeavour II last summer prevented effective comparison. The rules of the competition require only that the challenging boat be announced not less than 30 days before the match.

Neither boat will race in England before leaving. Mr. Sopwith said he hoped the two boats would have six weeks of sailing on this side before the cup series begins July 31.

The cost of sending out Endeavour I as a trial boat is being borne by a syndicate of British yachtsmen.

Smallest Steam Engine

Less Than Half An Inch High And Perfect In Every Detail

What is stated to be the smallest steam engine in the world is now in Capetown. It is less than half an inch high—about the size of a three-penny bit, and is perfect in every detail.

It is the work of J. M. Ewing, of Kenya, who planned to exhibit it at the Empire exhibition. The exhibition authorities, however, would not take the risk of putting it on view as they were afraid it would be pocketed.

Ewing stated that it is a three-cylinder double-acting piston valve reversing gear steam model engine. It has a bore of three sixty-fourths of an inch and a stroke of one-sixteenth of an inch. There are about 200 parts in it.

Finland's army flyers had adopted the swastika as insignia for their planes in 1917, long before Adolf Hitler came along.

According to the Smithsonian Institution there are 300 dialects in the 45 stock Indian languages.

Aerial Survey

Can Measure Height And Girth Of Trees By Photography

Canada has led the world in developments of aerial survey. H. E. Shivers, in charge of the forestry survey branch, department of mines and resources, told the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers.

From the aerial photographs tree heights could be determined from the shadows they cast, he said. Tables had to be worked out for location, season and time. A table had also been worked out for diameter breast height.

He said the work would not be completely accurate as far as the individual tree was concerned, but it was only an accurate average which was desired. Ground surveys had tallied with the aerial averages worked out in the office. The height might be out as much as 10 feet in a single tree but the average was about as near a foot.

Cannot Be Abolished

Speed Limit Essential As Long As Drivers Are Selfish

Surely, it requires no argument to prove that speed increases proportionately to risk, with all the modern mechanical improvements and technical safeguards it is, after all, the human factor which counts most in ensuring safety. A car bounding along at 70 or 80 miles an hour is under proper control and is a peril to itself and to other vehicles. Experts agree that to drive above 50 miles an hour is to invite disaster.

While something might be said for stepping up the speed limit to some extent, in view of recent developments in the automobile industry, to abolish it altogether would be to surrender to the demands of the reckless, the selfish and inconsiderate—Hamilton Spectator.

No one, we feel certain, will be disposed to question the appointment of that Toronto Interpreter who is able to converse in Russian, German, Ukrainian, Serbian, Macedonian, Czechoslovakian, Bulgarian, Jewish, Lithuanian, Polish and English—a veritable Babel in himself.

Little Helps For This Week

Being confident of this very thing, that He who hath begun a good work in you will perform it. Phil. 1:6.

Fill with inviolable peace; Stablish and keep my settled heart;

In These may all my wanderings cease, From These may I no more desert.

Thy utmost goodness called to prove, Loved with an everlasting love.

What is it that makes us unable to persevere? It is not want of strength, for we have with us the strength of the Holy Spirit. We have never set ourselves sincerely to any work according to the will of God and failed for want of strength. It was not that strength failed the will, but that the will failed first. We open only certain chambers of our will to the influence of the Divine, and yet if we would have peace we must be altogether united to God.

Jonker Diamond

Huge Stone Is Cut Into Dozen Small Jewels

What remains of the big Jonker diamond, 12 smaller but more beautiful stones, rested on a black velvet-covered board in a Fifth Avenue, New York, office.

Harry Winston's job of cutting up the great diamond was over. Behind him lay months of critical study and anxiety, and gone were 350 carats of diamond, vanished into air.

The Jonker diamond weighed 725 carats in the rough. The total weight of the dozen stones is 375 carats—the rest was lost in the cutting and polishing process.

WOMEN RECEIVE 80% OF LIFE INSURANCE BENEFITS

The women of Canada are the beneficiaries of over 80% of all life insurance estates. Of over $40,000,000 paid out in death claims last year by life insurance companies operating in Canada, $32,000,000 went to the women of Canada to tide themselves and their families over periods of financial distress. It provided ready cash to meet pressing obligations during the difficult readjustment period. It supplied funds for food, clothing, shelter and other necessities of life. It provided money to pay the rent or to meet mortgage payments, and it gave to thousands of families a certain measure of financial security against the future. Legislation that imperils the security of life insurance investments—that arbitrarily reduces interest rates on securities and that repudiates public or private debts—is of vital interest to the women of Canada.

Severe Weather Throughout Entire West

The Journal is a day late this week, weather conditions having caused delays during the week.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

From The Journal Files, January, 1922
Extract from report of meeting of Institutional Church:

The Ladies' Auxiliary had a splendid report of activity. During 1921 they raised over $600 and did many necessary and worthy improvements around the church.

Here's the way the editor of that time expressed himself:

There have been several births in town lately, but as the parents don't seem to give a d—, neither do we, so they have not been chronicled in The Journal. Wake up, bring in your items! Especially the new arrivals.

Never trouble another for what you can do yourself.—Jefferson.
